Rain, rain, go away

Farmers watching the sky, hoping rain stops soon

Flooding in Palm Beach County prompted school board officials to close the schools Wednesday, but locally, resi-dents have faired better than those on the coast. Farmers in the Glades are hoping the rain will stop so they can go about the business of growing food for this nation.

Charles Schoenfeld, veg-etable farm manager for A Duda and Sons, said they have had six inches of rain since last Friday. 'Right now, we need it to stop so we can get back into the fields," he said. A Duda the fields," he said. A Duda grows, radishes and leafy crops. Mr. Schoenfeld said they have probably lost some of the young radishes, but it's too early to tell. Barbara Mediema with Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative, said the fields are saturated and some of the young plant cane is at risk.

"We still plan to begin harvesting Nov. 1. We just need this rain to stop." she said.

This year's Red Cross Fashon Show titled "A Walk in the Clouds"

The Fourth Annual Red Cross Saks Fifth Avenue/Palm Beach Psahion Show and Luncheon will be held Saturday, Nov. 4, at the Belle Glade Elks Lodge. The event will begin at 10:30 a.m. with a silent auction and social hour, to be followed by a gourmet lunch at noon and the fashion show begins at 1 p.m.

The fashion show will feature apparel and accessories exclusively from Saks Fifth Avenue, Palm Beach.

This year's fashion show theme is: 'A Walk in the Clouds.' The silent auction will feature several drawings and special gifts, donated by many local and out-of-the area merchants.

"We have had a lot of support from our local merchants as well as merchants out of this area," says Scottie Wright, director of the West County Service Center.

Bids can be placed on such items as a tandem sky dive from Air Adventures, in Clewiston; tickets to Disney World, Busch Gardens, Dreher Park Zoo, Gatorland, Cypress Gardens; lunch at any of the various restaurants like John G's, Margarita y Amigas, or Dino's, or a fragrance giff set from Estee Lauder.

The silent auction committee members, Mary Orsenigo and Liska Hooker, say they are excited about the items in this year's auction.

The chairman for this event is Red Cross volunteer Jeannette Dexter. Mrs. Dexter has been a Belle Glade resident for 30 years. Last year was a sellout crowd and this year, Mrs. Dexter said she has again worked closely with Norina Coursey, manager of 'Saks Fifth Avenue Palm Beach to produce the show.

Saks Fifth Avenue always puts on a tremendous show. It feels like we are on the runways on New York,' said Mrs. Dexter. 'In a year of so many dissaters, we are grateful for the support of Saks Fifth Avenue, the community and all our volunteers.'

Tickets are $35. For more information, or tickets, call the Glades Branch of the American Red Cross at 992-9703, or Natalsah Nachman at 396-5303.

Dear Editor:

I have been totally and positively immersed in education all of my life - as a high school and college teacher in New York and as a middle school and college teacher in Florida.

I am extremely glad that I have had the opportunity to work with Richard Ramsey for the past four years. It has been rewarding.

I also know for a fact that many of the teachers who came to Lake Shore to teach in the last few years came because of Mr. Ramsey, his strive for inxellence and his commitment to children. Besides being voted Educator of the Year in the Glades area, Mr. Ramsey teaches seminars and is a recognized educational speaker at both the state and national levels. THEORMATION

We resent big Coca Cola, big candy and so-called environmental interests taking out full page ads all over the country with the goal of wiping out whole agricultural communities - tens of thousands of people whose lives depend on agriculture!

We resent these special interests spending tens f thousands of dollars on full page ads to try to pressure legislators into taxing an industry (that these interests do not like) out of business! These people know that a one or two cent a pound tax on sugar will drive the industry out of business and it is probably unconstitutional to pick out an industry and say, "Let's declare a special tax and close that industry down!"

These people know that the sugar industry has the lowest environmental impact of any land use. In fact, urban development of these lands could damage the environment a hundred fold greater than the sugar industry.

The people know when they talk about taking out one "sugar Baron family they are really talking out one "sugar Baron family they are really talking adout putting many thousands of people in the ladustry out of work just around Lake Okeechobee. These people know they misrepresent the sugar industrial talking they misrepresent the sugar industrial."

industry as subsidized, in fact in pays 33 million dollars directly to the federal government annually. This, in addition to the millions of dollars the industry pays for federal, state, county and local taxes. Also, our farm families spend many millions of sugar dollars in east and west communities every year.

These people quoting a GAO consumer cost figure of $1.4 billion is BUNK. The REAL WORLD price of imported sugar will certainly rise when the demand for imported sugar rises because they have demand for imported sugar rises because they have crippled the domestic sugar industry and have made us DEPENDENT on foreign sugar.

Respectfully,

P.St The response to these false and misleading ads has been huge on both coasts - there are times when we must defend our way of life - that time is now.

Call, write, or fax our legislators today and ask them for a good sugar bill to keep agriculture alive on Lake Okeechobee. This time, please don't say, "Somebody else will do it."

Roadrunner news

By Francia Ponce
Students will be dismissed at 1 p.m. on the following dates during the 1995-96 school year: Nov. 14, Jan. 10 and Jan. 30, Feb. 21, March 12, April 24 and May 14.
Linguage Arts classes: Two of Mrs. Cain's sixth grade classes are participating in the L.E.A.P. program provided by the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center. The purpose of the program is to integrate the arts into the curriculum. The focus has been on "following directions" with a pioneer theme. Representatives from the Puppet Arts Center showed the students different types of puppets, including marionettes, big mouth puppets and finger puppets. Materials were provided for each student to make his own puppet.
Academic games started three weeks ago. They played Glades Day and won. The girl's soccer team started too.
Lake Shore Middle is proud to announce that the Palm Beach County Public Library's mobile library is on board effective Nov. 13.

The other level of the pageant, class queen elections, is very anticipated this year with participants like - Mary Ferguson, for Miss Freshman - Lakeria Phillips, Tanzareka Redden, and Akira Williams all for the title of Miss Eighth Grade - and lastty, Twanda Jacobs for Miss Seventh Grade. Good luck to all the participants, and we hope the orace. Good luck to all the participants, and we hope the best for the winners!

I know all candidates were anxiously awaiting October 17.
This was when all Pahokee

High students took to the polls to vote for their choice of queens. Many of the participants were busy looking for the perfect dress, campaigning and preparing for their school televised speech, which aired live on Oct. 16.

However this isn't the only event PHS students were anticipating. The long awaited homecoming week event schedule (Oct. 23-26), as well as the Powder Puff Football Game between the junior girls and the seniors girls. All this and more in the next publication of the Blue Devil's Corner.

Post- Script!! Students will be taking the Preliminary Scholastic Assessment Test/National Merit Scholar-ship Qualifying Test (PSAT/MMSQT) on Tuesday, Oct. 24. Juniors who score della are eligible for National Merit Scholarshipa. All college-bound eleventh graders are encouraged to register for this test.

Leeches react before a thunderstorm

It is called the Tempest Prognosticator. It is the most unusual weather instrument ever invented.

It was designed to predict.

It was designed to predict thunderstorms. It worked quite well but was never accepted by scientist. Meteorologists around the world have been grateful ever since. The story of the Tempest Prognosticator begins in an English physician's office in 1850. George Merryweather was a family doctor who was fascinated by the weather. He was also something of an inventor.

Back in 1850, leeches were still used for medicinal purpos-es. Dr. Merryweather had lots of leeches, He used them every day, often prescribing them for his patients. Leeches were as common in 1850 as aspirin is today.

He wrote in his journal "the ordinary medici-nal leech is peculiarly sensitive to the atmospheric conditions generated before the occur-rence of electrical storms."

To harness the forecasting ability of "the ordinary medici-nal leech," Dr. Merryweather invented the Tempest Prognos-ticator. Actually, the official name for his gadget was "An Atmospheric Electromagnetic Telegraph conducted by Ani-mal Instinct", but Tempest Prognosticator was much easi-

Dr. Merryweather spent most of 1850 and 1951 presenting his "important meteorological discovery" to England's sci-entific community. The scientific community was less than enthusiastic, telling Dr. Merry-weather and his leeches to go

Another weather device had recently been invented that worked just as well as the Tempest Prognosticator -except you didn't have to deal with leeches. It was called a arometer. Today, if you visit the Whitby Museum in England you can see Dr. Merryweather's inven-tion. It's all there except for live leeches - they've b replaced by plaster models.

Falling down...drunk or frail?

By Paula Swaford, RN
One of the most common but frequently hidden problems in the United States is late-onset alcoholism. The National Insti-tute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism and the Mayo Clinic have found that as many as 41 percent of persons over the age of 65 reported alcoholic symptoms, which developed after age 60.

Many times the alcoholism of the elderly is camouflaged by friends and family, and aided by the fact that elders usually stick close to home and are at times isolated from the community. We know that the physical We know that the physical changes of aging can cause immobility, isolation and chronic pain. As we continue to age, we are frequently deprived of the camaraderie of co-workers, friends, and spouses.

To combat this aloneness many of the elderly population turn to alcohol and further distance and disengage themselves from other people, there-by avoiding detection. So what should we look for?

So what should we look for? What are some of the telltale signs and symptoms of late-onset alcoholism? Many of the symptoms of alcohol dependen-cy appear similar or mimic conditions generally associated with the normal process of aging.

Among these are: confusion, memory loss, apraxia (the inability to use objects properly), change in sleep patterns, lack of motivation, depression, anxiety, lack of appetite, and weight loss. Obvious indicators can include falls, bruises, scarring, or repeated fractures; anxiety or depression; poor anxiety or depression; poor appetite or gastric disturbances; inconsistent sleep patterns, and slurred speech and "motor" disturbances.

Of course daily alcohol ingestion and continued use despite the warning to stop are 'red flags' for family and friends.

Educating the community to recognize drinking patterns in the elderly and those approaching retirement can ultimately help in preventing the dobilitating consequences the debilitating consequences of the disease. One of the most ommon sweening tests for identifying alcohol and pre-scription drug misuse in the elderly is the C-H-A-R-M ques-tionnaire, which consists of five questions:

1. Have you ever thought of Cutting your drinking down?

2. How is alcohol used in your life?

3. Is Anyone concerned about your use of alcohol?
4. Do you use alcohol to Relieve problems?

5. Do you drink More than you mean to?

Because they don't want' their families, friends or grand-children to know about the alcoholism, their behavior is often one of denial and secrecy. Many times the consequences of their alcoholism becomes readily apparent to all if they must be admitted to a hospital or extended care facility.

When the delirium tremors, or "DT's" occur in the middle of the night after a few days of institutionalization, the "cat is institutionalization, the cat is out of the bag", so to speak.

Family education and support is crucial during this time as well as enlisting community support through Alcoholics Anonymous. Seniors for Anonymous. Seniors for Sobriety, and their personal-physician.

Speaking of yearbook, PIC-TURE RETAKE DAY will be this Thursday, October 19 for those faculty and students who have not yet been photographed for the yearbook. A photograph-er from Moya Studios will be set up in the elementary library on the main campus at 8:15. If your child missed having his or her pictures earlier this month, please make arrangements to have him/her photographed by contacting Karen Hansford in ne high school office (996-6769). We'd like to take this time to congratulate the junior high football team on a 3-2 season. They won three straight before dropping the last two games. Another game, originally sched-uled for St. Edward's of Vero uled for St. Edward's of Vero Beach this Thursday, has been cancelled. To celebrate the sea-son, parents treated the seventh and eight grade players and cherleaders to a steak dinner left Thready comping in Thing last Tuesday evening in Tripp Hall.

The secret is out. After some deliberation, the Student C coming theme to the student body in a skit performed over the school's public address sys-tem. This year's theme for the Nov. 3 game against Moore Haven is "Gators Get Rough." Already, classes have held meetings to plan on designing priswinning floats for the parade be held at 1 p.m. the day of the game. Good luck, everyone!

In our last story, the Winklesneezers were shopping in the store where Barry and Jack lived. When Mr. Winklesneezer saw two naughty boys pulling Jack's ears, he said in his loud, radio-announcer voice, "That will be enough of that, boys." They quickly ran off. (When Mr. Winklesneezer speaks, everyone listens!) Five₁year-old Andrew Winklesneezer asked Barry and Jack to come over and live with him. They decided they would. Later at home they had a great time making and eating funny pancakes. Mr. Winklesneezer, Mom, Mandy and Andrew all hugged Barry and Jack and welcomed them to their ne day Mr. Winklesneezer came home very excited and exclaimed, "I have a new job with a radio station way up north in the north! We're leaving in a week! We're going to live in the country!" Mom said, "I hope this is the right decision." Mandy asked, "Do they have good-looking boys up there?" Andrew, Barry and Jack all said together, "They'd better have TV and video games!

Barry and Jack had come to live with the Winklesneezers in the fall of the year. It was now winter. During the past few weeks, Barry had overheard Mr, and Mrs. Winklesneezer discuss' moving away from the big city. They were tired of all the traffic and noise that rattled through their house night and day. And they didn't want the children watching so much TV and playing so many video games! They decided to move as soon as Mr. Winklesneezer found a new job.

Moving to the country worried Barry. He knew that his Grandpa and Grandma Griz lived somewhere in the north woods near the Canadian border. They were country bears, and Barry thought it was backward and not very smart. "I wonder what they do without TV," he thought to himself. Barry was a city bear from Barrington. He was a Cubs fan and a true Chicago Bear. He didn't think a bear in the country could have any fun. He had a lot

Roasted Pumpkin Seeds

Try this yummy snack!

Get Ready..

- 2 cups of pumpkin seeds
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Cooking tools: baking sheet, medium-size bowl, colander, small cooking pot and paper

Get Set.

- Preheat oven to 225 degrees.
- Rinse pumpkin seeds in colander until pulp and strings are washed off.
- Boil seeds in salted water for 10 minutes.
- Dry seeds on paper towel.
- Melt butter or margarine.

Go!

>>> To roast the seeds, combine the Worcestershire sauce, melted butter or margarine, and salt in a medium bowl. Add seeds. Stir until seeds are coated with mixture. Spread on a baking sheet. Bake 1 to 2 hours. Stir occasionally and watch for burning! Seeds should be crisp. Makes 2 cups.

Ghostly Delights

A terrific fund-raiser for school!

Get Ready...

- 3 pounds of white chocolate
- 42 chocolate chips
- 15 to 20 craft sticks
- Non-stick cooking spray Aluminum foil, cookie sheet, bowl, doubleboiler, grater, spoon, paper towel

Get Set...

- Some instructions may require adult help.
- Grate white chocolate into bowl.
- Cover baking sheet with aluminum foil and lightly spray with oil. Wipe off excess oil with a paper towel.
- Fill bottom of double boiler with water, making sure water reaches halfway up around sides of smaller pot. (Hint: If you don't have a double boiler, make one by placing a small pot into a larger one.) Place boiler on stove and simmer over low heat.

Go!

Melt.chocolate in top of double boiler until smooth (stirring frequently). Place sticks on baking sheet, four inches apart. Spoon melted white chocolate in ghost shapes over top of sticks (have fun some ghosts flying—give each a different shape). Use chocolate pieces for eyes. Place baking sheet in refrigerator and chill until chocolate is firm. (If using for a fund-raiser, wrap ghosts in plastic wrap. Use black and orange curling ribbon to tie wrap shut around bottom of ghosts. Curl ends of ribbon with scissors.)

October Fun Fact • • •

What are sewers? Sewers are large pipes or tunnels under the streets of a city. Streams of water flow constantly through these sewers. Drainpipes from houses empty into vers, carrying waste.

Don't forget the outdoor fun!

- · An outside tag-like game played at night, with one person IT
- Choose a "goal" such as a house corner or a tree. Players hide while IT closes his/her eyes and slowly counts out loud to 12 o'clock: "1 o'clock, 2 o'clock . . . 11 o'clock, 12 o'clock—I wish I may, I wish I might, See the Old Gray Ghost tonight!"
- IT looks for the other players who will try to sneak back to the goal without being touched
- Those making it to the goal safely will hide a second time. Those caught will join IT while rounds are repeated until everyone is caught. The last one caught wins the round. The first one caught is the new IT for the next game.

Fishing with Walt Reynolds

If it keeps raining, we won't have to go to the lake to go fishing, the lake will bring the fish to us.

The flooding is going to be very tough on the wild life in South Florida. The biologist say that up to 90 percent of the deer population in the Everglades could perish.

With the rising lake level, the fish are moving back to the grass beds and reeds much earlier this year.
We spent a great week in Washington, D.C. fishing the Potomac River. Mike Balon of Belle Glade and myself fished the Bass Master, but ended up just short of the money. This week I will travel to Lake Eufala, Al., to pre-fish the Rod man Pro Am Classic that will be held in Rod man Pro Am Classic that will be held in November.

A lot of people ask me about what tackle boxes are the best to use. There is a new tackle management system on the market called, Tackle Logic. It is a series of boxes and canvas bags with zip lock bags inside. You can carry everything you need for a day's or even a week's fishing in one bag and it is light w3eight, roomy, and very well organized. I use the system and find it to be the easiest way to solve the problem of taking tackle with me. You can call me and I will give you information on where to buy them.

From the number of inquiries I have received, it looks to be a very good season gain this year. Let's be sure we all make the folks welcome to tur area and show them true

On Oct. 9, away, the Glades Day Gators won against Summit Christian 15-0 and 15-7 making the J.V. Gator's record 13-2. In the match against Summit Christian, the serves were our best weapon. In the first game Ashley Cunningham had six service points and three aces; Lindsey Curtiss had two service points, one ace and one kill. In the game we had a total of six aces and two kills, "said head coach Rita Schoenfeld. In the second game of the match we played the rest of the girls. Amanda Snow had eight service points and five aces; Shanna Hartzog had three service points and one ace; and Kelley Vickery had one kill.

"All the girls, played, a very good match. We were nevel of ery had one kill.

"All the girls played a very good match. We were proud of them," said Schoenfeld.

Benjamin

On Oct. 11, away, the Glades Day Gators lost to Benjamin 415, 15-13 and 10-15 which made their record 13-3.

In the first game of the match we did not get on track. Benjamin got eight quick points and we just didn't get into the game.

In the second game the girls realized they could be Benjamin and played hard. We served very well and received serves better in this game than we did in the first.

Hillery McMullen had nine service points and seven aces, and Michelle Herring had two service points, one ace, one kill and one block.

In the third game it was a very tight match. We had many side outs. Cristina Lockhart had three service points and three aces but we could not catch up to their serving points.

The girls fought hard in the second and third game of the match. They know if they had another chance at Benjamin they could win," said Coach Rita Schoenfeld.

The Livinia Versity Cates will place Classified as A. 16.

could win, said coach ruta ochoenieu.

The Junior Varsity Gators will play Clewiston at home Oct. 16, Pahokee, away, Oct. 17 and Jupiter Christian, away, Oct. 19.

Glades Day vs. Benjamin

On Oct. 11, away, the Glades Day Gators lost to Benjamin 4-15 and 5-15 making the Gator's record 8-8.

We never got out of the starting blocks. We only got seven chances to serve in the first game. Fida Mussallet had four service points and one block and Alicia Schaper had three kills. In the second game the score does not really show the play.

We could not get more than one point per serve rotation. We play with much more aggression at the net, having two kills, eight blocks, and four dinks but our serve play held us back," said Coach Schoenfeld.

The Varsity Gator's will play Clewiston at home Oct. 16, Pahokee, away, Oct. 17 and Jupiter Christian, away, Oct. 19.

Junior High Gators

Glades Day School's junior high volleyball team won four matches and lost one last week as they extended their record to 11-4.

Glades Day School's junior high volleyball team won four matches and lost one last week as they extended their record to 11-4.

In the first match played at Summit Christian, the Lady Gators fell 13-15 in the first game to Summit; but came back to win the second one 15-13, and the tie-breaker, 15-8 to take the win.

"Brittany Meeks' serving saved the match for us," said Head Coach Karen Hansford. "After struggling in the first game, she served seven points in the second, and five in the third to lead the scorers. Her serving has really improved over the season and she's the one! look to when it comes to getting the points."

The Gators also had strong serving from seventh grader Jayme a Arnold, who had 12 total points in the three games, and Emily White, who added four points.

The junior high volleyballers split two matches with Clawiston Middla when they hosted the Tigers on Wednesday, Oct. 11.

Despite four service points by Evelyn Fabelo and three by Erica Williams, the Gators lost the first match, 13-15 and 12-15. The girls recovered enough to take the second match over Clewiston, 15-12, 11-15, and 15-8. Once again, setter Brittany Meeks proved to be a strong factor, starting the third match with 11 consecutive service points.

Coach Hansford also praised the play of eighth grader Beth McLeod, who added eight service points in two games. I put Beth at middle hitter and she played, a very good game at the net, said Coach Hansford. When she plays aggressively, she's one of the best players on the team."

The Lady Gators swept Grace Christian in four games in their last two matches of the week to raise their record to 11-4. In the first match won by the Gators, 15-4, 15-6, Evelyn Fabelo and LiAnn Throop led all servers with six points each. Seventh grader Heather York added five points and Peggy Altman had three in the second game.

T put all 'th graders in to play in the second game," said Coach Hansford. Since the yeg tilmited playing time, I wanted to see if they could pull together as a team. They did rat game, I was glad to be able to play everyone, and it enabled me to see what some of next year's team will look like." The young Gators were scheduled to close out their season this week with a game at LaBelle Middle School Oct. 18.
